

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

FRIDAY EVENING, DEC. 1, 1881.

The Atlanta Cotton Exposition will close on December 31.

The Legislature has appointed a committee to investigate the management and treatment of convicts in the State prison.

HON. GREEN R. KELLAR, editor of the Bourbon Sun, has been appointed by Speaker Owens, the Enrolling Clerk of the House.

THERE are indications of another trunk railroad line from New York to the West. It will run up the west bank of the Hudson and through the state westward, parallel with, but south of the New York Central. Nearly $40,000,000 have been subscribed to the enterprise.

It is reported on pretty good authority that Dr. Black has recently been trying to "sell out" his road to Huntington. Col. Child has made a careful estimate and finds that another road from Augusta down can be built for $5,000 less than Black's figures.

A SUBJECT that will bring on a fierce fight in the Legislature is the question of repealing the tax of half a cent on the one hundred dollars for the benefit of the State College, at Lexington. The other colleges in the state are bitterly opposed to it and are using their best efforts to secure the repeal.

In the House, on Thursday, Mr. Kehoe was granted leave to bring in a bill to charter the Farmers' Mutual Protection Association of Mason county, and also a bill to amend the charter of the Maysville Agricultural and Mechanical Association of Maysville. They were referred to the committee on Corporate Institutions.

The winter of 1881-82 is already marked by astonishing atmospheric eccentricities, among which may be mentioned the heavy frost and freezes along the gulf coast. Immediately along the coast, in Louisiana, the mercury has already twice fallen to 27 Fahrenheit, or 5 degrees below freezing. Great damage has been done to the sugar cane crop; much of it has been frozen and seriously damaged, if not ruined. Another instance of the astonishing severity of the weather for that locality is found in the fact that a man was frozen to death in the streets of San Antonio, Texas, a day or two since. All vegetation throughout the gulf states has suffered materially from the cold wave.

The resources that the big monopolies can bring to bear in a contest are not always measured carefully by those who undertake to wage war upon them. The grocers in Columbus, Ohio wanted to buy oil on better terms than the Standard Oil Company would supply them, and purchased of other refiners. The Standard Company immediately undersold the market. Failing thus to bring the grocers to deal with them, the oil company started in the grocery business and sold goods at cost. This state of things continues. The grocers stand firm, and, with public sympathy on their side, promise to make a hard fight. The temptation to buy cheap groceries in these times of high prices however, is likely to prove too much for the average householders of Columbus, and we fear the grocers will find that the oilousness of the monopoly will not prevent their customers from getting their flour and sugar where they can buy the cheapest. But Ohio would seem to be a good missionary field for the Anti-Monopoly party.

NEWS BREVITIES.

Mr. Emmet G. Logan, of the Courier-Journal, was married to Miss Clara Covington, at Bowling Green.

The Schooner Kate Gillet was lost on Lake Michigan, with all her crew.

At Greencastle Ind., thirteen cars were wrecked and a brakeman killed.

Joseph Krantz was killed by a landslide at Canal Dover, O.

August Kersbare was arrested at Sydney Ohio, for forgery.

There are many cases of small-pox at Bayard, Ohio.

B. T. Ready died suddenly at Jamestown, Ohio.

Keifer, of Ohio, is weakening as a candidate for the speakership, and an effort is now making to consolidate the West on Kasson.

It is understood at Washington that no Southerner is to be in the cabinet.

A memorial tablet is to be erected on the spot where Garfield fell.

W. R. Debow, of Crittenden county, Ky., was found with his neck broken, near Oneida, Tenn. He fell from a train.

Thomas Reed was killed at Allenville, Mo., by an accident in a saw mill.

More agrarian outrages are reported in Ireland, and the shot-gun policy is being vigorously applied to rent-payers.

At Wooster O., Patrick Snyder was fatally injured by falling from a train.

Wholesale burglaries are reported at Cyathiana, Ky. Kentucky towns are warned to look out for a visitation.

The body of James Smith, a coal miner at Nelsonville, Ohio, mysteriously missing, was found in a mine. He had committed suicide.

TWO STATES.

KENTUCKY.

The amount of the various funds in the State treasury October 10, 1881, was $247,346.34.

All the State papers insist that it is the duty of the present Legislature to pass an effective dog law.

The governor says charitable institutions of the State have been well and admirably managed.

The Press says there hasn't been a failure in business circles, of any magnitude, in Paducah for several years.

A catamount was killed in Lewis county last week. It measured four feet six inches from nose to tip of tail.

The Progress says that Catlettsburg is "not only the gate, but the golden gate, that opens up the richest valley in the State."

It is reported that General Echols will have five thousand men at work on the Newport & Big Sandy Railroad, by the first of January—that his agents are now in town engaging all the hands and teams they can find. If this is true Maysville will soon have another railroad, and that too without paying any one $100,000 for it.

What They Say About Us.

Augusta (Ky.) Chronicle.

We are in receipt of the DAILY EVENING BULLETIN, published at Maysville and issued by the proprietors of the Maysville WEEKLY BULLETIN. It bespeaks enterprise upon the part of the proprietors, and we wish it abundant success.

A resolution to appoint a committee of five from the Senate and seven from the House to consider all bills relating to the call for a constitutional convention, was adopted by the Kentucky Legislature.
